Literary Fiction Wakefield Press July 2009

Jetty Road is an amusing and insightful novel about women of a certain age, kids and oldies – about life actually, and how we never really grow into it. The story explores the intertwined lives of two sisters, Evie and Paula Haggerty. Damaged by their early life experiences – Evie's past drug habit and the collapse of Paula's long-term relationship – the sisters depend on one another to stand strong against the challenges of mid life, and together face difficult decisions that must be made.

'Beautifully written, thoroughly engaging and elegantly framed by a critical intelligence that wears its own convictions lightly but without apology.' – Michael Grossman

Art/Biography Wakefield Press July 2009

Angela Valamanesh is one of Australia's most intriguing ceramic artists. Her art is aesthetically minimal and cunningly simple, allowing us to interpret universal and ever-perplexing human, animal and organic forms. Valamanesh re-immerses us in the primeval rawness of form and function and, in doing so, the artist succeeds in visualising what many of her contemporaries have avoided – the symbiosis between art and science.
