Blooms and Brushstrokes

A floral history of Australian art

PENELOPE CURTIN AND TANSY CURTIN

HB-216 PP-275 x 220- Full colour t/out ISBN 9781743056493 • $65.00

Blooms and Brushstrokes takes you on a unique journey through the history of Australian art, one flower at a time, examining the blooms depicted in still lifes, floral portraits, decorative interiors and botanical illustrations by a long line of Australian artists. Mother-and-daughter team Penelope and Tansy Curtin start this fascinating journey in the late eighteenth century, when the traditions adhering to the Western art canon were transplanted into the newly colonised Australia. They follow it through the rapidly developing artistic styles of the early twentieth century, to the new media of the contemporary period.

These works of art also shine a light on the role and importance of plants and flowers in everyday life. They illustrate changing floral fashions, as well as highlighting flowers in their various forms - cut flowers, pot plants and gardens. And along the way you'll encounter many of Australia's most significant artists, including John Glover, Arthur Streeton, Margaret Preston, Grace Cossington Smith, John Brack and Margaret Olley, as well as some of Australia's most beautiful, and sometimes intriguing, native flora, such as the waratah and Sturt's desert pea, not to mention perennial garden favourites like roses, sweet peas and daisies.

Perfect for gifting

Spectacular, intimate, engaging and meticulously researched – and full of interesting and quirky facts about the flowers and the artists themselves, Blooms and Brushstrokes is a book for art, flower and history lovers

Penelope Curtin is a freelance editor who works mainly in the area of art publications.

Tansy Curtin is the Curatorial Manager at Bendigo Art Gallery. She holds a Masters in Art History from the University of Adelaide.

LEAD TITLE Poetry

Smoke

MIRIEL LENORE

PB • 124 PP • 210 x 140 • ISBN 9781743056448 • $22.95

Welcome to the Victorian town of Boort, where poet Miriel Lenore spent her childhood. With characteristic humour and compassion, Lenore has created a series of vivid and moving portraits of Australian rural life in the 1930s. As a child, and as a returning adult, she observes the weaving together of individual lives, the unravelling that comes with war and tragedy, and the pragmatism and everyday reality of country life. Miriel Lenore's voice is clear, forthright and transparent, and her use of form flexible and persuasive.

Miriel Lenore's poetry is deeply grounded in her experience as a feminist, mother, grandmother and pioneer of a different sort. She lives in Adelaide.

Praise for Smoke

'Smoke is full of life and truth, a compelling testament to the courage and resilience of the many lives it honours.' Diane Fahey

Key selling points

 A poetic memoir of growing up in rural Australia by one of Australia's best poets.

Boomer and Me

A memoir of motherhood, and Asperger's

PB•198 PP•210 x 130•ISBN 9781742702582•$24.99

Praise for Boomer and Me

'Gutsy and heartfelt, Boomer and Me not only relays the rhythms of what it's like to raise a child with Asperger's, but illuminates the fundamental challenges of being any parent. An honest and deeply affecting account of motherhood, with all its contradictions, anxieties and joys intact. A stunning memoir.' Benjamin Law

'Jo Case doesn't milk, or mine, or plunder her experiences of motherhood; she lays them out with dignity and humour. This book will do a lot of good in the world.' Maria Tumarkin

'A poignant portrait of the love between a mother and her son ... What parenting yields by way of lessons is that our kids will teach us things about ourselves we do not know or necessarily wish to learn. It takes humility and courage to meet this head-on. Case's humour and strength shine as she turns towards this confrontation.' Australian

Jetty Road

CATH KENNEALLY

PB-384 PP-210 x 135-ISBN 9781862548299-Fiction-$32.95

Jetty Road is an amusing and insightful novel about women of a certain age, kids and oldies – about life actually, and how we never really grow into it. The story explores the intertwined lives of two sisters, Evie and Paula Haggerty, Damaged by their early life experiences - Evie's past drug habit and the collapse of Paula's long-term relationship - the sisters depend on one another to stand strong against the challenges of mid life, and together face difficult decisions that must be made.

Cath Kenneally is an arts journalist and broadcaster. She has written five books of poetry, including Around Here, which won the John Bray National Poetry Award, and one other novel, Room Temperature, also published by Wakefield Press. She lives in Adelaide and has three children.

Praise for Jetty Road

'An urbane and insightful domestic drama filled with humour, pathos and acutely drawn characters.' Age

'A robust, homely, family novel full of crossed purposes, mixed messages, petty jealousies and generous intentions. Like life, it occasionally drops us into real, swinging, breath-holding suspense when characters we care about are suddenly under threat.' Katharine England. Advertiser

'This book draws you in with its insightful treatment of the things that beguile and bedevil sisters who grow up and grow old together. A nice slice of life well told. Recommended.' South Coast Register

'Jetty Road is an enjoyable, frequently amusing, acutely observed, gossipy family saga that will appeal to many women readers.' Ruth Starke, Transnational Literature

The British bomb tests: Australia's veterans speak out

ROGER CROSS, AVON HUDSON

PB-224 PP-210 x 135-ISBN 9781862546608-Australian History/ Current Affairs • $29.95

In Beyond Belief, Roger Cross and Avon Hudson give a long-ignored voice to the veterans of the British atomic bomb tests conducted in Australia during the 1950s and 1960s. Their chilling stories raise many disturbing questions, both about what happened then, and the effects on their lives in the decades that have passed.

Successive British and Australian governments denied their understanding of the dangers of ionising radiation in the 1950s. But the government scientists employed to monitor the tests were given protective clothing. The servicemen were left unprotected, given radiation-measuring devices and exposed to a simulated theatre of nuclear war. They trusted their government and the appointed Safety Committee, only to be left with a tragic legacy for their children and grandchildren.

The Horns

The Zambezi Trilogy: Book One

PB-400 PP-229 x 152-ISBN 9781925846379-Fiction- $34.95-Published by Vivid Publishing

The Horns brings to life the early history of Matabeleland and Southern Rhodesia through the increasingly divergent paths of four childhood friends. Jabu, son of an eminent Ndebele Chief; Themba discovering his Tswana past as a slave to the Ndebele; Prune, his mother dying in childbirth and his adoption by the clinic nurse and orderly: Carol. daughter of a Native Commissioner in Nyamandhlovu – all of them living in the heartland of Matebele history.

Jill Baker grew up as in Southern Rhodesia. Until she went to school her best playmates were three black children. The paths each of their lives took could not have been more divergent.

The Horns is founded on careful historical research into the valuable, but scarce, generational Matebele and Mashona oral histories; the vastly differing and biased accounts from early missionaries, pioneers, hunters. miners and traders; and records from the British South Africa Company, as well as government and parliamentary archives.

The historical skeleton holds this story firmly in place. What is fictional is for the author to know – and for you, the reader, to guess.

Beloved African

JILL BAKER

PB-440 PP-232 x 152-ISBN 9781903905357-Biography-$29.95-Published by RoperPenberthy Publishing

I feel there is no long term future for the white man in this country unless he learns to live comfortably with the black. To that end, I find myself more and more interested in the education of the black instead of white. Letter from John Hammond, Plumtree, Rhodesia 1935

Beloved African is a powerful love story, tested and strengthened in adversity. John Hammond was one of Rhodesia's great educatorsbeloved by black and white alike. The pivotal role he played in early African education in that country is woven against a backdrop of increasing tension as he strode an increasingly political stage - fighting for the time he needed to educate his pupils to a point where they would be in a position to lead the new Zimbabwe with wisdom and integrity.

The story draws on the author's mother Nancy Hammond's precise

Praise for The Horns
